

STR

3. To make tight; to intend.
Stretch them at their length,
And pull the streighien'd cords with all your strength.

that the whole sound is not in the
in every small part of the air.

Sated at length, ere long I might perceive
Strange alteration in me.

5. Wonderfulness; power of raising wonder.
If a man, for curiosity or strangeness sake, would make puppet pronounce a word, let him consider the motion of the instruments of voice, and the like sounds made in inanimate bodies.
Bacon's Natural History

*S*TRAPPING. adj. Valt; large, bulky. Used of large men or women in contempt.

*S*TRAI